DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Newly submitted claim 39 directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: the claim sets forth a method of installing the vault, whereas the previously reviewed claims sets forth an apparatus, the vault. Further the method, as set forth does not require the modular vault as claimed.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 39 is withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 33 and 36, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Holmberg Patent Number 1,412,784.

Holmberg '784 teaches all the limitations of the above claims including a modular vault with a seamless (page 1, column 2, lines 75-81) housing body (5) with front, rear, side, roof and floor walls forming an unitarily single piece, having a door (6) in an opening in the front wall connected to a door frame of hinges (see figure), and the vault is fire resistant and burglary proof.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 33-34 and 36-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holmberg Patent Number 1,412,784 in view of Speer Patent Number 5,493,817.

Holmberg '784 teaches all the limitations of the above claims except the use of hooks. Holmberg '784 teaches a modular vault with a seamless (page 1, column 2, lines 75-81) housing body (5) with front, rear, side, roof and floor walls forming an unitarily single piece, having a door (6) in an opening in the front wall connected to a door frame of hinges (see figure), and the vault is fire resistant and burglary proof. Speer '817 teaches the use of hooks to hoist an enclosed container. It would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the vault as taught by Holmberg '784 to provide integrated hooks to hoist the vault into a building onto office floors above the basement as taught by Speer '817 since providing integrated hooks require only routine skill in the art.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed August 11, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Applicant argues that Holmberg does not teach a front wall because the door takes up the entire opening. The Examiner disagrees with the Applicants arguments. The Examiner maintains that the outer border or edges of the side, top and bottom walls forms the front wall as claimed (see the Figure). The limitations as set forth in the claims is "said seamless housing body having portions defining a front wall having a door opening there through"; thus the Holmberg reference meets these limitations. The argument that the door takes up the entire opening is moot since the claimed structural language is met. Finally, the Applicant argues that the Holmberg reference does not teach a walk-in vault; and further argues the distinction is important because a walk-in vault allows a person to actually enter into the vault, whereas one would not be able to walk into the Holmberg safe. The Examiner disagrees with the Applicant's arguments. The Examiner maintains that the Holmberg teaches all the limitations as set forth, thus teaches a walk-in vault. First, the Examiner would like to point out that in a 102 rejection, if all structural limitations are met, then it is inherently a walk-in vault. Secondly, the Applicant is limiting the Holmberg reference with the statement that it is not a walk-in vault, since the Examiner contends that a child, dog, or any other small pet could walk into the vault. The Applicant is arguing points of invention not fully disclosed in the claims.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
